

CHINA'S MOBILE PAYMENT SOLUTIONS

ALIPAY AND WECHAT PAY

With over 900 million active users, Alipay and WeChat Pay are among China's most popular mobile payment solutions.

Both at home and abroad, mobile payment solutions have long become commonplace and are considered a familiar and preferred means of payment. In China, Alipay and WeChat Pay have long since ceased to be used merely as a means of payment: they're now considered lifestyle platforms with a plethora of possibilities. Moreover, the means of payment offered by retailers plays a key role in the purchase decisions made by Chinese customers and greatly increases their desire to buy.

There has been a significant global increase in the number of Chinese tourists. Even the number of those people using Alipay and WeChat Pay abroad has grown continuously.

With Worldline as the preferred partner of Alipay and WeChat Pay in Europe, you will be able to offer your Chinese customers their preferred mobile means of payment without any hassle – not to mention without any additional infrastructure.

HOW IT WORKS

The checkout assistant enters the payment amount as usual at the terminal or via the cash register system. Without needing to select an additional payment method, a QR code is displayed on the terminal. This QR code is then scanned by the customer using the Alipay app or the WeChat Pay app, at which point the amount is then displayed in the app and can then be confirmed.

Alipay and WeChat Pay work with our ep2 terminals that can display the QR code – be they stationary or mobile, integrated into the cash register or standalone. No additional infrastructure is needed. The QR code, which is displayed on the terminals, is the same for Alipay, WeChat Pay and TWINT. In addition, the payment is also fully automated. No manual selection of the means of payment is necessary.
